Preserving Our Future Now!

Exceptional Places . . .

The North Olympic Peninsula enjoys some of the nation's richest natural resources and breathtaking scenery. North Olympic Land Trust is committed to protecting these values:

- ◆ Habitat for salmon and other wildlife
- ◆ Farmland
- ◆ Sustainable timberland
- ◆ Clean water and air
- ◆ Scenic vistas and open spaces
- ◆ Cultural heritage

Conservation Easements . . .

A conservation easement is a voluntary legal agreement between a landowner and North Olympic Land Trust that protects the significant features of the property in perpetuity. Each agreement is written to reflect the needs of the owner and the conservation objectives of the Land Trust.

A Community Partner...

It takes the whole community to make North Olympic Land Trust's work possible. We join with members, property owners and other supporters to protect our lands. The Land Trust offers a flexible, creative way for landowners to preserve special qualities of their land permanently, while leaving it in private ownership. The conservation agreements then help sustain our quality of life and local economy --key reasons why people love to live, work and vacation here.

Help Protect . . .

North Olympic Land Trust relies on our members and supporters to invest in our mission and offer volunteer resources to enhance this place we cherish. Local citizens formed North Olympic Land Trust in 1990. Since then our members have helped protect more than 1,500 acres, but many more vital lands need to be conserved for our future. Join the Land Trust now! Volunteer projects are always available, so please get involved today by: being on a committee, helping with restoration projects, or helping with StreamFest or just coming to enjoy and learn. These are among many ways you can become invested in your local land trust. We hope you'll get started today!
